Epoxy Chum Fry

Hook: #6-10
Thread: 6/0 Olive
Body: Silver Diamond Braid or Mylar Tubing
Tail: Olive Mallard
Back: Olive Mallard
Head: Olive Thread
Eyes: 2/2.5 mm Stick on Eyes

Tying Instructions:

- Start by tying in the diamond braid at the bend of the hook and wrap forward $\frac{3}{4}$ way up the hook.
- Build up a large enough head using your thread so that the eyes can be later put on.
- Tie in mallard with tips pointing forward. Whip finish.
- Restart your thread at the bend and pull mallard over the back of the hook and tie off mallard. Tail length can be $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ the shank length.
- Coat the fly in a thin coat of epoxy, add the eyes at this time.

Epoxy Minnow

Hook: 12-8 Mustad 9672
Thread: 6/0 Olive or White
Tag: Olive mallard w/ pearl krystal flash
Body: Flat silver mylar wrap
Back: Olive mallard
Eye: 1.5 mm stick on eyes
Note: Cote 5 min Devcon Epoxy over body, back, and eyes.

Tying Instructions:

- Tie in mallard at bend of hook for tail. Do not trim butts, they will be used for the back.
- Tie in 2 or 3 strands of pearl krystal flash out back as well.
- Tie in flat mylar and wrap back and forth over body till entire hook shank is covered, then secure with thread at the eye of the hook.
- Pull mylar forward over the tinsel and secure with thread at eye of hook.
- Trim and whip finish.
- Stick on the eyes on either side near the eye of the hook.
- Mix a small amount of devcon epoxy with a toothpick and then apply it on the top of the fly over the shellback and the eyes. Don't worry about covering the bottom because the epoxy will run down over the bottom of the fly. Once you have applied enough epoxy, rotate the fly slowly for about 5 minutes until epoxy begins to harden. Then store in a place where it wont rub up against anything for about 30 minutes, or until epoxy hardens.

Rolled Muddler

Hook: 8 or 6 Streamer

Thread: 6/0 Black

Tail: Mallard flank

Body: Medium flat silver tinsel

Underwing: Mallard flank

Overwing: A few strands of deer hair from head.

Head: Deer hair, color to match mallard flank.

Note: Can be tied in green, red, yellow, purple. and in natural.

Tying Instructions:

- Tie in mallard at hook bend.
- Tie in flat tinsel, then wrap thread forward leaving enough room for the spun deer hair head.
- Wrap silver tinsel forward, overlapping slightly on each wrap.
- Secure with thread, and then tie in more mallard for the wing. Tips should reach the tips of the tail.
- Lay a clump of deer hair between the wing and the eye of the hook, perpendicular to the hook shank. Wrap thread over deer hair, this should cause the deer hair to flare upwards. Make a few more wraps to secure deer hair, then whip finish, and head cement.
- The last step is to trim the deer hair to form head. The head should be trimmed to a small size and should be rounded. Leave a few strands of deer hair, extending back over wing.

Tied Down Minnow

Hook: Size 10-6, 3X long

Thread: 6/0 Olive

Tail: Dyed olive mallard flank

Body: Silver small braid mylar wrap

Back: Dyed olive mallard flank

Throat: Red hackle fibers.

Tying Instructions:

- Tie in mallard flank for tail. Tail should be about 1/3 length of the body. Don't trim the butts, they will be used for the back of the fly. Pull mallard butts back and secure them back with a few wraps of thread.
- Tie in mylar wrap and wrap it forward.
- Tie in red hackle fibers, facing down to imitate the egg sack.
- Pull mallard tightly over body and secure with thread. Trim, and whip finish.
- Apply 2 coats of head cement to head, body, and back. This will help prevent the mallard from splitting.
